Unofficial announcement of a portion of the bipartisan machine siste for city manager, police chief and city solicitor in the event that Commissioners H. L. Breckenridge and John A. Harley are defeated— -

These two bits of practical politics were the outstanding features of the week's developments in the race for the two places on the city commission which are to be filled November 6. Althe both bits of politics have been "in the offing" for over three weeks, they did not bob up to the surface until Saturday afternoon when they broke with unexpected suddenness. MANY CONFERENCES

There have been political powwows almost every day for three weeks, some at city hall, some in the Faurot block, some at the Chaimers Pump & Manufacturing Co. and numerous others in all sorts of places. And out of these various conferences there came Saturday the two statements at the start of this article.

It is said authoritatively to be an open secret that the bipartisan organization has agreed that in the event that Commissioners Breckenridge and Harley are defeated, the following city officials /shall be' named at the reorganization of the city commission next January:

Alleged "Tip off" Man Among New Prisoners

NEW YORK - (Associated Press) - Barlow Morris Diamond and his brother, Joseph, have made a complete confession of their part in the robbory and murder of the two West End bank messengers in a Brooklyn elevated station November 14. District Attorney Dodd announced today after seven additional arrests had been

Both Diamonds denied firing the drots which killed the messengers, from whom $43,000 was stolen, but furnished the names of three gunmen alleged to have done the actual slaying, according to Podd, who said that descriptions of the trio had been flashed all over the country.

Dodd also announced that Anhony Pantano, of Brooklyn, one of those crrested this morning, had agreed to make a complete confession of his part in the crime, which the district attorney said consisted of furnishing information regarding the transportation of money between Utrecht-av branch of the Irving Bank-Columbia Trust Co. NEW ARRESTS MADE

Seven additional arrests of mer suspected of pacicipating in the slaying and robbery of two Brookiyn bank messengers were made today. Five were taken in a raid on an apartment in the Bronx while Anthony Pantano, accused of being the 'tip off" man for the gunmen, was arrested at his Brooklyn home.

Pantano was formerly a salesman for the West End bank whose messengers were killed. The police understand he gave advance information to the actual slayers, including the statement that the messengers were quick on the draw.

Recreation Helps To Keep You Healthy

How do you spend your spare time?

Recreation is just as necessary to good health as food or shelter.

Recreation may be of many kinds—a change of work—a hobby that is followed during spare time—caring for a garden—anything that is a distinct change from the regular grind of the day.

Follow the rules of health—they are all simple. But if despite every care illness occurs, then reduce danger, lost time and expense by consulting your physician at the first sign of trouble.

Trust us to back up your physician's work by filling your prescriptions with drugs of the proper strength and utmost purity.

OHIO STATE LOSING BET

COLUMBUS, Nov. 27. - Altho Ohio States, football team has lost every conference game played in Ohio Stadium since it erection in the fall of 1922, more than a quarter of a million persons paid to see the five games played there this season, the university athletic department announced today. This attendance is more than six times that of 1915 and two and a half times that of 1920 when the Buckeyes won, their last championship, BOVE is an Associated Press dispatch from Columbus. It shows the great interest in intercollegiate football, which is becoming the most popular sport of the day.

Obio State University has a great stadium. Its regular seating capacity is 65,000 altho 72,000 persons jammed into the great concrete structure and the temporary seats at the dedication a year ago when Michigan humbled the Scarlet and Gray

Not since the dedication has the stadium been filled. At the game last Saturday, the annual homecoming when the last contest of the season was played, not more than 45,000 persons were in attendance. That left at least 20,000 vacant seats.

Despite the fact that there were nearly enough seats to accomodate half the nopulation of a city such as Luna at the Illinois game, the price of scats was kept high. There was no special provision for school children who might have attended the game had there been some arrangement whereby they could have obtained tickets cheaper than the high price demanded.

It would be only just if after the demand for regular seats is taken care of, school children, the boys and girls who some day will be students at the great Ohio university, could attend at a reduced price. The cost to the university would be no more. It would be far better to have the 20,000 or more vacant seats occupied by a bunch of happy youngsters at 10 cents a head than to bar them at prices of $2.50 and $3.50

While the big advantage would accrue to children of Columbus, it is certain that Dad and Mother from any other Ohio city would be more inclined to take the boys and girls along and let them get a taste of college spirit if they were not faced by almost prohibitive prices.

This is a matter the university can well consider. Make friends with the children of today and in the years to come there will be so many students at the university that there will be enough material from which to pick a team that they will not need to play two seasons in their stadium without winning a makes it just about unanimous, game.

BUSINESS CONDITIONS

HE first basic heralding of lower costs came during the week in a wage cut of miners in the copper industry. Shut down of some units in the steel plants was also noted. Stocks, bonds and commodities all dropped to new lows on the week, and selling was general in every market. There was ro report of any diminished schedules in the automobile trade.

Locally, business was brisk in retail trade, and jobbers show increased volume. There is no let down in our manufacturing plants, and none forecasted for six months into the future. Building while slumping because of season, promises nevertheless to be more active than ever known for the winter period. Much inside work is daily available to the various trades.

Railroa's onlines to show record breaking car loadings and merchants report higher prices appearing in spring quotations. PROHIBITION PROBLEM AGAIN

M ORE has been printed in the daily press during the last week concerning prohibition than any other one topic. The old problem of enforcement again is in the limelight, the matter receiving the attention of governors of a majority of the states and the national administration.

State executives in conference pledged support to enforcement of the national sumptuary law, altho a few were passive in their action. President Coolidge was not enthusiastic about the Pinchot plan of assuming the full responsibility for dry law enforcement, but has gone on record for this action thru the regular channels.

Critics see in the rumpus Governor Pinchot kicked up merely a political plan which would bring him to the fore as a presidential possibility of no mean importance. There is no denying the fact that the Pennsylvania executive has an eye to the future, politically speaking.

Charges that politics is hampering the enforcement of the dry law have been made and denied. Governor Donahey has stepped forth with a suggested reform, declaring that there is collusion between dry agents and justices in some quarters of Ohio. On the whole prohibition has been enjoying one of its periodical rejuvenations which reach from coast to coast and then die down to await the application of the torch at a later date by someone of more or less importance.

During the last week's discussion no less an anthority than the Chicago Tribune predicted that prohibition would never be enforced and never repealed. There is little likelihood that it will be repealed, but we dread to contemplate the future with a failure of enforcement; with the lawlessness, murder and robbery that will be certain to continue if poison peddlers are allowed to ply their trade. Certainly if we are to keep prohibition we must enforce it and we must get down to brass tacks without further delay.

OHIO HAS STRONG BANKS

IMA contributes in no small measure to the indications of prosperity reflected in the resources and deposits of the 750 banks in Ohio. Proof of this is afforded in the fact that on September 14, when a call for a statement of the condition of these financial institutions was made, their resources and deposits totaled more than ever before recorded.

Resources were $1,721,549,741, as compared with $1,688,691,010, reported for June 30, 1923, and deposits of $1,485,074,033, as compared with $1,456,-$44,231. Between these two calls resources increased $32,858,731, and deposits $28,229,802.

Between the calls of September 15, 1922 and September 14, 1923, resources increased $173,153,-031; deposits, $157,627,142, and savings $105,253,-426. Deposits gained $430,000 a day during the

These gains were made despite the fact that the period covered by the current call includes the summer vacation season, when there is more or less depressions and slacking up in commercial and indus-

During the past two and a half years there has been an uninterrupted growth in resources and deposits of Buckeye scrate banks. Thrift has apparently taken a firm hold on the people of Ohio. The situation also reflects credit on the management of Loans and discounts aggregated $1,081,829,749. an increase of $5,720,940 over June 30, 1923, an increase of $120,684,768 between September 15, 1922 and September 14, 1923. Bank reserves were strengthened and habilities were appreciably reduced. Capital stock totaled $103,965,449, an increase of $5,400,339 during the year.

The notable growth of Ohio's financial institutions shows also that general trade, financial and industrial conditions of the state are excellent, with reassuring prospects for a continuance of this wholesome economic order of business affairs.

YOU AND YOUR CITY

IMA is face to face with financial difficulties as to operating revenue which are very real and which should not be looked upon by the responsible voter with indifference. The city stands to continue its rapid progress or to go back, all depending upon whether enough money is available to maintain its various departments as they should be in a growing municipality.

The emergency was not brought on during the last year or the year before. It has been gathering momentum for several years past and not the least among the various elements contributing to it was the drop in the value of the dollar following the war.

The situation of the present has no direct relation to the city's net worth since it is a rich town for its size and its resources are many times over the amount of its liabilities and its credit is high. This must be maintained.

Voters will have an opportunity of voting a three mill levy at the poils in November. This is intended to supply revenue for operation and not for fancy salaries. The administration is pledged to live within its income and also not to permit any person receiving more than $3,000 a year to benefit by any salary increase. This eliminates practically all ex-

In this connection it is well to consider the men who are on duty day and night in various departments to keep the city's standard high as a place in

The salaries of firemen and policemen are below the average for those in any work in the city to which their work might fairly be compared. The same is true in the waterworks department, which Certainly no fair minded person could deny that men should work for a municipality for less than they could get in other lines of work for the city must be run day in and day out. Then, the matter of salaries with the higher paid executives excluded should not enter into the vote on the proposed levy. No one stands to benefit except those who are already underpaid for their work.

But salaries, even with the drop in the value of the dollar and consequent mounting of living costs for those who must maintain their families on the lower wages paid by the city, are not the first consideration in the levy proposal. Service to the public is of prime importance and it is certain that service will not be available if the city is forced to operate on the money it will have if the levy fails.

No one loves to pay taxes, but everyone wants a city with ample fire and police protection and other services which are essential to city life. For this reason voters should weigh carefully the issue before they go to the polls. It is a serious matter and should be accorded the consideration any person would give a big business deal-for TOUR city is a business in which you are vitally interested.

Hawkeye's Show Exceptional Strength In Game Taking Easy One From Hoosiers

lowa Playing Stronger Game Defeats Ohio State By Lopsided Score, 20-0

COLUMBUS-(By The Associated Press)-Iowa excelled in all departments of the game and defeated Ohio State 20 to 0 in the annual gridiron battle between the two teams at Ohio Stadium. It was Ohio's second defeat of the season at the hands of a Big Ten foe and marked an Iowa comeback after the Hawkeyes bowed to Illinois last week.

The Iowans who scored two touchdowns and a pair of field goals, demonstrated their supremacy at every stage of the contest and excepting for a few desultory flashes of form, the Buckeves were completely outplayed thruout. The Iowa backs, aided

Thiebert's Central Hi Plays Real Football; Rings Victory From Ada

BY FRANKLYN DOAN

Using a brilliant attack, varying from crisscrosses off the tackles, to four and five man passes, Central's football machine rung up it's fourth victory of the current season, Saturday afternoon at College Field.

Ada fell victim before the terrific onslaught by a 19 to 3 score.

If ever a football game was weird, Saturday game was all of that. Conventional football was thrown to the winds and each team unearthed plays that were directly opposite to usual gridiron play. Central's superior |

Final and conclusive evidence was not dea onstrated.

They went thru a slugging match for ten rounds, at the Majeria satisfactory—no boxing match is that results in a draw—there were many who believed Bream had got the better of Gross, because he woke up in the

It was in reality a grudge battle, which was demonstrated several times, when the bad blood between the boys showed to such an extent that Referee Charley Maxwell, also of Lima, was forced to caution Gross against the rabbit punch and hitting on the break. Gross, especially in the first rounds, got into the bad graces of many because of unfair tectics, The rabbit punch had been barred, but he persisted in using it,

To sum the battle up fairly, it was demonstrated that Bream showed more skill at infighting. He sent in a number of hard blows that were very unpleasant to Gross. Jakie proved the stronger at long range, and this was especially true in the first part of the bout. Figuring from this angle, it would be unjust to give any other decision than a draw, It was plain to see that Gross entered the bout with all the confidence in the world, and he sailed in at the sound of the gong, as the wanting to make a short job of it; he was doing most of the leading and rushing Bream about the ring. But he weakened in the latter rounds, while Bream demon. strated tactics that went stronger as the bout progressed. It was in the fourth round that Gross had Bream in a ball way. He rushed Bream with his left and followed with his right, and in this round he sent Bream to the ropes with a hard right to the head. But Bream seemed to grow stronger after the halfway stage, and Gross did not have a clear edge in any round after that. As a matter of fact it was all Gross could do to hold

Gross was given the first, fourth and fifth rounds, Bream the second. ninth and tepth, with the remaining four even.

Have demonstrated that they are capable, efficient, honest commissioners. They have been in large measure responsible for the splendid record made by Lima's first city commission. Laboring against the handicap of insufficient revenues, they have accomplished wonders for Lima in the way of permanent improvement. Now, in the midst of the greatest forward movement the city has ever seen, their services are more valuable because of their experience in the past two years.

We are confident that Lima voters will testify to their appreciation of the loyalty, energy and ability of these two men by according them splendid majorities at the election, Tuesday, November 6.

LONDON - (Associated Press) -It is expected that the Turkish embassy fhich has been closed since 1914 will be reopened soon. The Embassy which is in Portland place presents a grimy exterior for it has remained untouched 02 all these years. A solitary caretaker has been in charge of the building and he states that the furniture is just as it had been left in 1914. He complained that he has been without wages for months but expects his little account will be satisfactorily settled.

WHEAT PRICES ON DOWN GRADE

Large Purchases in Canada For U. S. Bring About Decline

MARKET IS UNSETTLED ONE

Corn And Oats Also Register Slight Losses

CHICAGO-(Associated Press --Estimates that 3,000,000 to 3,000,-000 bushels of Canadian wheat, duty paid, had so far been sought to come into 'he United States at two cents a bushel less than the price of domestic grain and quality had a bearish effect Saturday on the wheat market here. Closing quotations were unsettled. 1-4@3-8 to 1-2@ 518c net lower, with December $1.05 1-4 $3-8 to 1.06 3-8 and May $1.11 1-8.

Corn finished 1-3@1-4 to 5-8@ -ic down, oats at 1-Sc off to a shade advance, and provisions unchanged to a setback of five cents. LIVERPOOL MARKET STRONG . Notwithstanding a slight upward tendency at the opening, the wheat murket soop turned downgrade and during the remainder of the day showed but little po for to rally. Initial advances were ascribed to the fact that Liverpool quotations had failed to reflect Friday's decline The majority of traders, however, took more notice of indications that imports of Canadian wheat into the country were growing heavier, despite the tariff of thirty cents a bushel. To offset this factor. bulls continued to put stress on gossip that news helpful to higher prices was likely to come out of Washington, but the market made little or no response and the close was almost the day's bottom level. M-st of the Canadian wheat imported into the United States up to this time is said to have been for mills, much of it to be ground into cago. Besides, millers at Minneapolis and elsewhere northwest were said to have purchased liberally from Canada in the last few days. Talk of increased compelition from Russia in Durum wheat was also given some notice.

House - To - House Canvassers Collect Dollar And Disappear

Housewives of Lima are warned by Mr. Kamerer of Feldman & Company to be on the lookout for swindlers selling hosiery from house to house. These canvassers show spurious credentials and claim to be selling Phoenix hosiery. They secure a deposit of one dollar and advise their victims that the hose is to come by mail and the balance collected by the postman. The canvasser pockets the dollar and that is the last heard of him.

According to Mr. Kamerer, the Phoenix hose is sold only in retail stores but it is a widely-known brand and the canvassers use that fact to get a bearing and thus work

A statement issued by the company says that Pinkerton detectives ire operating in more than a dozen states trying to run down these canvassers. Postoffice inspectors have also been called upon, where there is evidence of use of the mails, as in some instances these swindlers claim to sell Phoenix but deliver a makeshift, worth about half the price. Mr. Kamerer requests anyone who is approached by a hesiery canvasser to call the Feldman store immediately, giving them the facts, so that they may place the informa-

Everyone seems to have been busy and the affairs have been of such a varied nature as to make the week a most pleasurable one. A great deal of interest was manifested in connection with the north-west district conference of the Ohio Federation of Women's clubs held Thursday and Friday at Bluffton. A large group of local club women attended and declared the sessions very profitable.

Then, too, there were several informal parties complimenting out-of-town visitors. The Hallowe'en dance at the Lima club

Drivers Deserve Your Confidence

A cab driver is known by the cab he drives—by its color and the name of the company painted on its side.

You can rest assured that any man who drives a Yellow Cab is worthy of the highest trust and responsibility. No one can drive a Yellow Cab unless we are convinced that our patrons, regardless of sex or age, are absolutely safe in his care.

On the care with which we select our drivers depends the safety and welfare of the public of Lima. Public safety is something we hold as a sacred trust. When dependable drivers cannot be secured Yellow Cabs will remain in the Yellow Cab drivers are all responsible men of good character and sound moral fiber. They are thoroughly imbued with the spirit of service—that spirit which must characterize any business that is to endure. The men behind the wheels of Yellow Cabs are worthy of your confidence,

What Has The Street Railway Done For Lima?

The present Street Railway Company was organized a little over a year ago. It purchased the physical property of the old Ohio Electric Railway Company which was sold under decree of the federal court at Toledo.

The property had been operated at a loss for five years and was expected to be scrapped - such a loss to the city of Lima would have been a calamity-it would have been an inconvenience to its people and a shock to business interests.

The present company looking into Lima's future, entered into a contract with the city to expend $200,000 for improvements and rehabilitation of the property within two years; and in addition to install twenty one-man safety cars at a further cost of $160,000.

In addition to the above mentioned sums, $100,000 more will have been expended during the year 1923, in consideration of which the city authorized the necessary increase in the rate of fare, but limited the company from earning more than 8% upon the actual investment in the prop-the meeting.

MEETING SATURDAY

Just 91 pupils were found to be meeting of the county farm bureau physically normal out of 727 exam- to be hold early in December in Lima ined during October by Miss Char- Committee consisting of C. F. Mertz. lette Bassett, Allen-co rural school:

Miss Bassett's examination disclosed that 422 pupils have defective teeth, 339 abnormal throats, 64 impaired breathing, 20 enlarged glands. 92 defective vision, 313 were underweight, 133 with no defects. She has already tested 184 head in Bathfound 69 defects had been corrected tp. Of this number only one reactor during the month, commenting on and one suspect have been found. the fact she had noted "a great improvement in the condition and attitude of the pupils."

Miss Bassett also expressed pleasure over the fact that in several of the schools mothers of the children were present for the inspection and announces that all interested are invited to be present at all times.

Th following schedule of inspections is announced for the coming week: Monday, Hilty school, Rich land-tp; Tuesday, Diller school, Richland-tp; Wednesday, Stager Paulding Center school, Jackson-tp. Miss Bassett's monthly report was given last week at the regular meet-

Court Bailiff Dies In Ambulance Going To Hospital

bailiff, 830 W. Wayne-st, died while being taken to St. Rita's hospital at 8:30 p. m. Saturday, from heart dilatation, caused by inhaling gas which puffed from a furnace when he opened the door to mend the fire. Wingate had gone to the basement of his home to fire up for the night. As he opened the furnace door, flames, smoke and gas puffed into his face. A violent fit of coughing followed. An ambulance was called and Wingate was started to the hospital. He died before reaching the build-

CORONER'S VERDICT

Dr. Frank Smith, coroner, viewed the body, and found that Wingate came to his death from acute dilatation of the heart superinduced by strangulation from gas.

Wingate, who was widely known in Allen-co as "Mont" and "Cap" Wingate, was a police officer in Lima when the city was a wide open oil town. Later he was captain in the department. For two years past he has been a bailiff in common pleas court. He was a member of the Elks Lodge. He was born in Jackson-tp, in

Glen C. Webb Writes First Theatre Rain Insurance Polic

Sigma Theatre Takes Out Large Insurance To Protect Itself From Losses Because of Rain

"The Common Law," a Super Special Attraction Opens At Sigma Monday

The Sama theatre manager called on Gion C. Webb one day last week relative to business and during the course of the conversation, the elaborateness of the cinema, "The Common Law," which will be the attraction at the Sigma theatre for six days, starting Monday, was mentioned. Mr Webb suggested insuring the picture against rain, a type of insurance which is not exactly new, however, it has never been used in this part of the state in connection with motion picture theatres. After taking the proposition up with the directors of the company, it was decided to try out the new insurance as the cost was reasonable, considering the chances of loss to the insurance company. Incidentally, this is the first deal of this kind to be consummated in Northwestern Ohio.

The first three days' receipts are insured for $1000 each, therefore if there is over 1-10th inch precipitation on either of the three days and the bex office receipts do not total $1000, the insurance company will stand the difference. The fourth day is insured for $700, the fifth, $600 and the sixth, $1000.

Considering the great precaution the Sigma theatre has taken against this unusual picture, theatre goers will undoubtedly realize the bigness and elaborateness of the production. "The Common Law" is an adaptation of the novel by Robert W. Chambers, well known author of fiction, and most everyone knows the story. In the excellent cast are such noted players as Corinne Griffith, remembered for her work in Elinor Glyn's "Six Days," Conway Tearle, Elliott Dexter, Bryant Washburn, Miss DuPont, Phyllis Haver, Doris May, Hobart Bosworth, Wally Van. Harry Meyers and many others, All are players of unusual prominence and have a long line of starring vehicles to their credit.

The story is that of an artist's model and life in general in the art studios of modern times and it vividly portrays many of the indignities to which models are compelled to

There is probably no star in all the realm of the cinema who is better equipped and more suited to the leading role than is lovely Corinne Griffith who portrays the difficult part with feeling, delicacy and Inesse. As Valerie West, the cultured daughter of refined parents, but who has now been thrown upon the world to carn her own living, after many attempts to secure employment, she is at last in desperation driven to the studio of a painter to endeavor to secure work as a model. Of course she is quite ig norant of the state of affairs exist. ing among artists and enters assuming that all is as it should be. The artist realizes her great possibilities as a model and persuades her to pose for him.

She achieves great success as a model but retains her sweetness and charm in spite of her invironment. Neville, that's the artist's name, falls desperately in love with her and she finally returns his love. But the artist's family is furious at what they deem an undesirable union and influence Valeria to give him up by convincing her that the marriage will wreck his career, desperately to kill his love and nearly succeeds but in the end their attachment is too strong and Valeria finally offers to live with him as his common law wife. At first Neville refuses but is finally on the point of accepting Valeria's sacrifice of honor when unexpected forces intervene which rush the story to its interesting and dramatic climax.

"The Common Law" will undoubtedly prove one of the Sigma's strongest attractions. It will be followed on Sunday by another Sigma super-special, "Duley," starring Constance Talmadge.

NEWS OF THE MOTOR WORLD FROM MANUFACTURERS

DOWN THE ROAD.

"The average car owner is seldom in a position to know just what must be done to his car in the winter to approach as nearly as possible couditions as they exist in warm weather. For this reason," says Mr. Hawisher local Studebaker dealer," "the following suggestions should be carefully observed by all automobile

ANTI-FREEZING SOLUTION

Before any anti-freezing solution is used, the water circulating system. should be inspected for leaks, and repairs made, if necessary. It is usually a good plan to replace hose connections at this time of the year. Do not use anti-trease compounds containing calcium chloride or others similar compounds, as they corrode the inside of the radiator,

The only satisfactory solution of which we know is alcohol and water. Penatured alcohol is preferred. wood alcohol can be used. Wood alcehol often contains tree acetic acid; and should never be used unless it is Anown to be free from acrd. If acid is present, damage to the radiator will result

It must be remembered that it is necessary to add alcohol from time to time to replace what is lost due to evaporation. Whenever necessary to fill the radiator, to replace loss by evaporation, use a mixture of 46 water and 60 alcohol.

During the winter mentls the fat belt can be loosened, which will reduce the flow of air thru the radiator and thereby allow motor to run warmer than it otherwise would. CARBURETOR

Due to the low gravity gasoline more especially in cold weather, to get as much heat as possible to the mixture to properly vaporize the gasoline to prevent condensation.

In starting the motor, make sure that the choke is pulled all the way out until the motor starts, then push! but do not have it even partly out have made clear public preference clude at least three hody designs en- bodies, The Nash Motors Company try traversed by the Lincoln Highcold motor will not warm it up; re- for the automobile of this type. tard the spark and let the engine; idle slowly.

LUBRICATING SYSTEM

Condensation in the cylinders due to cold weather often results in the mixing of the gasoline with the oil, We recommend under average conditions ,the oil be drained approximately every 1000 miles in order to guard against excessive wear of the bearings or cylinder walls. However it is advisable to change the oil every month during winter driving regardless of when fresh oil was last added. The oil pan should be removed and washed out with kerosene occasionally in order to prevent any accumulation of sediment which might have a detrimantal effect upon the hearings.

STORAGE BATTERY

In cold weather the capacity and the voltage of a battery are less than they are at normal temperature. Likewise, it is much more difficult to crank an engine because of the effect of cold temperatures on the lubrication of the fuel when the motor is cold. Because of the heavier drain on the battery and its decreased efficiency in the winter, the energy taken from the battery should be conserved as much as possible. When starting the motor, throw out the clutch, which will prevent unnecessary turning of gears in the transmission (thru congealed oil) and consequently reduce the load placed on the starting motor and battery. Also see that all connections are tight thruout the electric system and that none of the wires are grounded or shorted.

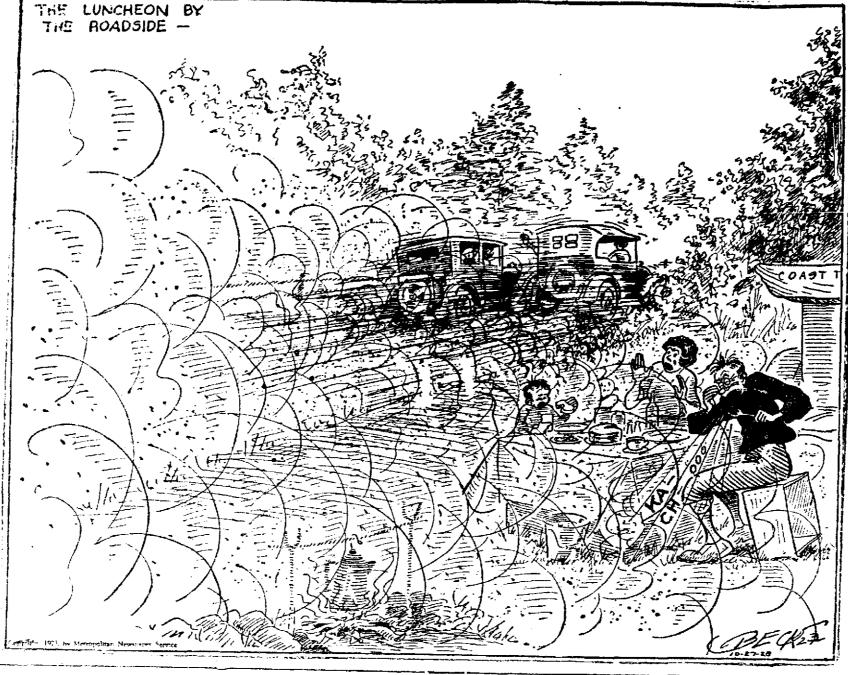

Test the battery with a hydrometer every two weeks and if on any two consecutive tests the specific gravity is .200 or under, remove the battery from the car and have it charged and also see that the gener-Ator is charging properly.

When adding distilled water to the battery in freezing temperature, make sure that the motor is immediately run for a short time so as to charge the battery, thereby mixing the added water with the acid and preventing treezing,

IGNITION A good hot spark is needed for starting in cold weather. Make sure that all the electrical connections are tight and clean, that the distributor breaker points are clean and the opening set to .020" and that the spark plug gaps are set to .025."

MISCELLANEOUS Tires should to properly inflated If chains are used they should not be too tight. Watch small cuts in tires. Water will soon work into these and loosen the tire structure Adjust the brokes and tit new linings, if necessary. So that the brake shafts and such parts are oiled. It is highly essential that the steering gear be correctly adjusted and that the wheel alignment be correct. Slippery pavements make it essential that the brakes and the steering mechanism roper condition.

During the winter months the fat. belt can be loosened, which will reduce the flow of air thin the radistor and thereby allow motor to ran warmer than it otherwise would. CARBURETOR

Due to the law gratify greating now being used, it is very essential more especially in cold weather, to get as much heat as possible to the mixture to properly vaporize the gasoline to prevent condensation.

Condensation in the cylinders due to cold weather often results in the bile industry who are in a position engineer; it requires the blending mixing of the gasoline with the oil. We recommend under average conditions the oil be drained approximately every 1000 miles in order to guard against excessive wear of the bearings or cylinder walls. However, It is advisable to change the oil every month during winter driving regardless of when fresh oil was last added. The oil pan should be removed and washed out with kerosene occasionally in order to prevent any accumulation of sediment which might have a detrimantal effect upon the bearings

STORAGE BATTERY

In cold weather the capacity and the voltage of a battery are less than they are at normal temperature. Likewise, it is much more difficult to crank an engine because of the effect of cold temperatures on the lubrication of the fuel when the motor is cold. Because of the heavier drain on the battery and its decreased efficiency in the winter, the energy taken from the battery should be conserved as much as possible. When starting the motor, throw out the clutch, which will prevent unnecessary turning of gears in the transmission (thru congealed oil) and consequently reduce the load placed on the starting motor and battery. Also so that all conpections are tight thrubut the electric system and that none of the wires are grounded or shorted.

Test the battery with a hydrometer every two weeks and if on lany two consecutive tests the specime gravity is .200 or under, remove the battery from the car and have it charged and also see that the generator is charging properly.

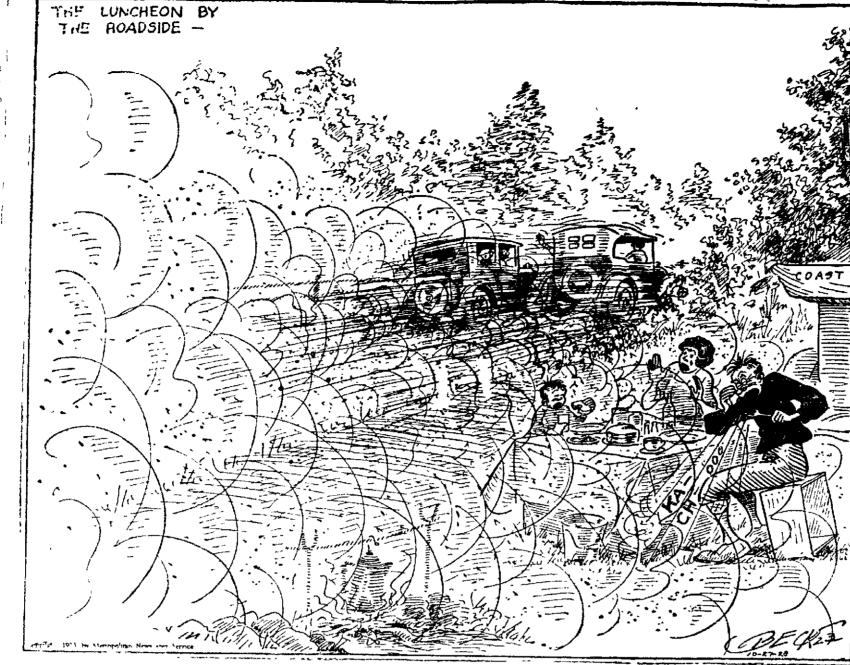

When adding distilled water t the battery in freezing temperature make sure that the motor is immediately run ter a short time so as to charge the battery, thereby mixing the added water with the and and preventing freezing.

IGNITION

A good hot spark is needed for starting in cold weather. Make fire that all the electrical connections are tight and clean, that the distributor breaker points are clean and the opening set to .020" and that the spark plug gaps are set to .025."

MISCELLANEOUS Tires should be properly inflated If chains are used they should not be too tight. Watch small cuts to tires. Water will soon work into these and loosen the the structure.

Adjust the brokes and fit hely linings, if necessary. So that the brake shafts and such parts are oiled. It is highly essential that the steering gear be correctly adjusted and that the wheel alien ment be correct. Slippers Tavements make it essential that the prakes and the steering mechanism seems to reach from the grave and to smile in the old, urbane Goodwin way at Margie, his one woman.

Nothing in the career of America's famous "marrying comedian" was as romantic, as dramatic as this sequel to his death-this drama of the girlwife who strove to "hold her husband" by making him jealous, who lost him instead, and who, loving him insanely when he died, fled the scene of their happiness and became a sort of sleep-walker in a waking world.

Goodwin was on the threshold of sixty when he married Margie Moreland. She was the wife of George Doughty, a broker. They met at a California Summer resort. They were riding in Goodwin's motor boat. Margie, writing a letter, saw the sheet of pale blue note paper whipped over-

It was all very sudden. Her friends accepted the general theory that Margie was happy in a new love-off somewhere on an idyllic honeymoon with her officer. Not until Nat Goodwin took to his bed in the old Claridge Hotel and died; not until awyers, rettling his estate, began to hunt for his grass-and-sod widow, did anyone realize that Margie Moreland had not been seen for months.

Then surprise became bewilderment. New York City was combed for her. Old friends shook their heads. At hotels where she had lived, managers shook theirs-and pointed to piles of unclaimed mail addressed to her. Somebody said she had been observed in an automobile at Nyack, New York, a day or two after she married Gilson. After that-puff! she was as the wind!

The mystery of Margie Moreland's dis-appearance might have remained one of he sphinx secrets of a great city had not Margie Moreland herself dispelled it. As suddenly as she vanished, she returned. And in this, her first public statement of the whys and wherefores of her vanishing, she puts an entirely new aspect on what Broadway had thought was a romance that broke Nat Goodwin's heart.

"He was more than forty years my senior, but I loved him as I have never loved a man before or since. During our gay days on Broadway, I was love-crazy over Nat Goodwin. I knew his reputation. He was presumed to be fickle. He had had forty affairs and four wives. He referred to them courteously but cynically.

Nat Goodwin was always in my heart. I suffered torments. Finally I left my husband. Then came the news of Nat's death. I felt as though I had been struck an irrevocable blow.

The to the great day costumes of other revival of reils is a feature of days to show women how foolish it fashion, is to go on leaving the arms bare. They argue that distinction and glory are given to a gown by its sleeves, decorative and costly.

Women go right on wearing their arms bare in this mild weather, but the accepted change is moulding new fashions, and dressmakers who are completing cold weather frocks do not find it difficult to put ornate sleeves into tight armholes. There's no protest Maybe winter weather is more persuasive than fashion. Maybe there is a slight feeling, at last, for a change in apparel. Someone is tired, somewhere, of a coffee sack hanging from the shoulders with a slit for the head to go through and wide openings for the Women are worried about the limpness of sleeves rather than by their increased length. If limpness is not retained, it's going to be a fretful winter for those who are everlastingly trying to make a decorative sleeve of width and stiffness go under a coat with insufficiently wide sleeves.

The tashion for the sleeveless jacket did not survive. It died a quick death, but it may be exploited again in the spring, which is the suitable season for it. It was a lovely idea; old as human nature. nearly. It gave women a counce to prolong the line from shoulder to hips, which is almost necessary to style and grace in the average American figure.

Sleeves With Circular Endings

None make objection to the circular movement on a sleeve. Women may not like it on the skirt; they may ignore it on a jacket and refuse to accept it over the hips of a blouse; but they trifle gaily with it on an arm covering. Therefore, several types of sleeves show it as a variant from the pipe-stem affair which fashion has reinstated.

The revival of sleeves long since dead and buried is one of the extraordinary happenings of this season. Far too numerous are these resurrections to describe them in a small space. But the old device of putting a flaring flounce at the wrist is in evidence everywhere. It's a clever way to lengthen a sleeve that for some malicious reason has grown too short. The status of a sleeve does not govern its usage. It is put. impartially, on those for work and those for gayety. It is formed of fur for a day or evening coat, sometimes nearly half as long as the arm; again it is a mere triffe, a suggestion of the fashion. Rarely does it go on the sleeve of a jacket that belongs to a suit. It is kept for frocks and top coats.

There is something gay and spirited in all these circular devices, especially so against a background of pipe stems and pencils. They give the festal effect of flags flying from straight

98 Out of Every 100 Women Benefited

An Absolutely Reliable Statement Important to Every Woman

Remarkable Results Shown by a Nation Wide Canvass of Women Purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. ____ 50,000 Women Answer ____

For some time a circular has been enclosed with each bottle of our medicine bearing this question: "Have you received benefit from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?"

Replies, to date, have been received from over 50,000 women answering that question.

98 per cent of which say YES. That means that 98 out of every 100 women who take the medicine for the ailments for which it is recommended are benefited by it.

This is a most remarkable record of efficiency. We doubt if any other medicine in the world equals it.

Think of it-only two women out of 100 received no benefit-98 successes out of a possible 100. Did you ever hear of anything like it? We must admit that we, ourselves, are astonished.

Of course we know that our medicine does benefit the large majority of women who take it. But that only two out of 100 received no benefit is most astonishing.

It only goes to prove, however, that a medicine specialized for certain definite ailments-not a cure all—one that is made by the most scientific process; not from drugs, but from a combination of nature's roots and herbs, can and does do more good than hastily prepared prescriptions.

You see, we have been making, improving and refining this medicine for over 50 years until it is so perfect and so well adapted to women's needs that it actually has the virtue to benefit 98 out of every 100 women who take it. It's reliability and recognized efficiency has gained for it a sale in almost every country in the world-leading all others.

Such evidence should induce every woman suffering from any ailment peculiar to her sex to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and see if she can't be one of the 98 THE LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO., Lynn, Mass.

"The Lima News says that at the Jackson Center creamery fire not long ago, the natives stood around looking at the fire and wondering how they could put it out, when some one happened to think that the town had a fire engine at the town hall. Go ahead, laugh your head off smarty, you'll be wanting to borrow our fire engine some of these days and you won't get it. So there!"-Jackson
